Special Education

Transition Plans

All students with an IEP must have a Transition Plan included in the IEP starting at age 16 until the student exits school. The purpose of a Transition Plan is to coordinate learning opportunities and support to help facilitate the child's movement out of school into adult activities such as post-secondary education, employment, adult services, independent living, and community participation.

Graduation and Exiting School

The IEP should identify the circumstances in which the student will exit school. In all circumstances, there is no requirement that the student completes their IEP goals and objectives.

High School Graduation Requirements recently changed. Now, the student will receive the same diploma as their peers whether they receive special education services or not. Here are the general high school graduation requirements in Washington State. Note that each school district determines graduation requirements that must abide by state rules but could be ever more extensive.

- Student must earn certain course requirements (24 credit framework) during high school years, includes:
 - 4 English
 - 3 Math
 - 3 Science
 - 3 Social studies
 - 1 Career and technical education
 - 2 Health fitness
 - 3 Electives
 - Note: These are state requirements and individual School Districts may have more strict requirements
- There are many different pathways to graduation which could include any number of the following:
 - Having and updating a plan for high school and post-high school starting in 7th or 8th grade identifying educational goals for their next 4 years of high school. This also includes identifying skills or interests for higher education and/or career
 - Earning at least level 3 the WA State Smarter Balance assessments in math and English language arts (ELA) to determine the student's readiness for college and/or career
 - Using a combination of these options to meet math and ELA requirements:
 - Earning 3 or higher on Advanced Placement (AP), International Baccalaureate (IB), or Cambridge assessments in both math and ELA, or earning at C+ in the course
 - Passing a transition course in both math or ELA that students can transfer the credit in college
 - Earning minimum score on SAT or ACT set by the State Board of Education (SBE) in both math and ELA

- Earning Dual credits – at least 1 in ELA and math at high school in dual credit courses (eg: Running Start)
 - Earning standard score on military exam ASVAB by meeting minimum eligibility criteria to serve in a branch of the armed services
 - Completing Transition Course or Program, or completing Career and Technical Education (CTE) courses
- For students with IEPs, the IEP team decides when requirements are met or if they have to modify the requirements for the student.

The student is eligible for the 18-21 year old program and continues in school until they “age out” at the end of the school year during which they turn 21. Students eligible for the 18-21 year old program are allowed to participate in high school graduation activities and ceremonies with their same-aged peers. They will not receive their high school diploma and will remain eligible to receive special education services. In this case, they have shared in the experience of graduation, but have not officially exited school.

18-21 year old Transition Program

Each school district provides special education services for students aged 18-21 years old differently. Common learning activities include job training including writing resumes, interview skills, and on-the-job training, life skills such as shopping, cooking, budgeting, and using public transportation. Talk to your school district to determine the services they provide and what will be appropriate for your student. We encourage students to take full advantage of the special education services and remain in school through age 21; school is an entitlement, adult day services are not.

School-To-Work Program

A program of KCDDD designed to help students achieve employment in their final year of the Transition Program. Students must be clients of DDA and must apply in the spring before the student’s final year of school. Taking part in this program may help connect students with adult waiver services. Talk to the teacher or go here for more information: <http://www.kingcounty.gov/healthservices/DDD/services/employment/school-to-work.aspx>.

Medical Coverage & Services

Medical coverage is complex, below is a summary which addresses information relevant for DDA services. There are very specific eligibility requirements for medical coverage such as Medicaid including the individual’s citizenship status. Please don’t hesitate to contact The Arc of King County to discuss your situation.

- Services through DDA such as employment support services and Personal Care rely on Medicaid eligibility.
- It is important to keep to the resource limit ($2,000) once you receive these services.
- The main ways that people are eligible for Medicaid (Classic) which ensures eligibility for DDA services are:
 - Receiving SSI
 - Healthcare for workers with Disabilities (HWD)

- By qualifying based on income

Social Security Administration (SSA) Cash Benefits

Social Security benefits require a certain level of citizenship status. For questions about this, please contact The Arc of King County.

Supplemental Security Income (SSI)

SSI is cash benefit for people with disabilities who also have a low income. There are three main eligibility criteria for SSI: income, assets and disability. When someone turns 18 they can qualify for SSI based on their own income and resources. You will want to set this up in the first month after the person with disabilities' 18th birthday. Prior to age 18 the parents' finances are taken into consideration. If the child is still living in the family home, you can set up a room and board agreement to receive the full amount of SSI. The Arc of King County has some resource that will help you set this rental agreement up.

Social Security Disability Income (SSDI)

If a parent has retired, passed away, or become disabled, their child with I/DD may be eligible for SSDI. That person will get benefits based on their parent's work history. Also known as Child Disability Benefits (CDB) or Social Security Disabled Adult Child (SSDAC). Apply online <https://secure.ssa.gov/iClaim/dib> or in person.

How do I apply for benefits?

Begin the application process online at <https://secure.ssa.gov/iClaim/dib>. After SSA have reviewed this information they will contact you for more information. You can also call 1-800-772-1213 (TTY 1-800-325-0778) from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Monday through Friday to set up an appointment. Application are regularly denied. If this happens follow the appeal process rather than applying again. If you are successful with your appeal you will receive back pay from the date of application.

Good to know:

- These benefits are often easier to obtain before beginning work.
- They can serve as a safety net should a work effort not be successful.
- Look at <http://plantowork.org/> to explore options to maintain Social Security while working.
- Keep copies of any documents you submit, and record your communications for future reference.

Employment Supports

For students still in school

- Ensure the student is enrolled in DDA so they can be in the School to Work program (S2W).

- Note: Students must have a citizenship status that makes them eligible for Medicaid Waiver services in order to utilize the S2W program.
- Apply for S2W by the spring before their last school year.
- Ensure the IEP includes goals that will support future job placements.

For those who have already exited school

- The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) offer short term support for all people with disabilities looking for work. <https://www.dshs.wa.gov/ra/division-vocational-rehabilitation>
- If enrolled in DDA and interested in working, go to DVR to begin the process.

Short term support for finding work is available for all people with disabilities through Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR). Your child's school should have an assigned DVR counselor. You might also be interested in finding your local DVR office and attending an orientation. <https://www.dshs.wa.gov/ra/dvr/find-an-office>

Long term employment support are only available through DDA or private pay. This involves a job coach who spends a certain number of hours on the job with the employee, providing the support they need. The level of support is determined by an assessment. People in transition should tell DDA if they are wanting to work and needing support.

Developmental Disability Administration (DDA) Services

What is DDA?

DDA (previously known as DDD) is the state level administration within the Department of Social and Health Services (DSHS) specifically for people who meet its criteria of developmental disability.

Why should I connect with DDA?

- To enroll in School to Work (see more information under Special Education).
- Services may include Personal Care (PC), respite, supported employment, residential services, emergency assistance, and more.
- Even if you don't need services now, it is best to enroll as early as possible. This way you will have quicker access to assistance should you need it. Eligibility determinations takes several months.

How do I know if I am enrolled in DDA?

- Call 206.568.5700 with the name and birth date of the person who has a disability.
- If you are not enrolled, then ask DDA to mail you an application, or download one here: <http://www.dshs.wa.gov/ddd/eligible.shtml>

What DDA services are available?

DDA services are always changing, contact The Arc of King County for information on current services and eligibility requirements. DDA has many services and each one has its own eligibility requirements which might include family or individual income, citizenship status, and level of support needs.

How do I navigate the DDA system?

- If you are enrolled and are not getting services, you are on the 'No Paid Services' caseload. Call 1.800.974.4428 to request specific services.
- If you have questions about the services you are getting, or want to know more about services available you can visit the DDA website, contact your case manager, or contact The Arc of King County.

What if I'm not eligible for DDA?

Maybe you are eligible, but didn't provide the correct documentation to qualify. Contact The Arc of King County if you're not sure what you need. If your disability doesn't meet DDA criteria for I/DD see 'Home and Community Services' below.

More information about DDA: <http://www.dshs.wa.gov/ddd/region2.shtml>

What is King County Developmental Disabilities Division (KCDDD)?

KCDDD is the county level division that provides specific services to those who are already eligible/enrolled in DDA. Specific for students in transition KCDDD overlooks

- Employment programs, and employment service providers
<http://www.kingcounty.gov/healthservices/DDD/services/employment.aspx>
- Housing program allowing adults to get on a waitlist for a Section 8 Voucher. Contact your DDA Case Manager, or if you do not have one contact Katherine Festa at 206-263-9053.

Care & Respite

- Publically funded care and respite can be obtained through either DDA, or Home and Community Services (HCS). The main type of care received is Personal Care (PC) which requires an annual assessment. Prepare ahead of time to ensure you have an accurate assessment. Contact us for resources to help you prepare. Parents can be the paid care provider for their children over the age of 18.
- DDA requires someone to be enrolled before they are able to request services. Possible services include MPC, respite or a waiver (IFS, Basic Plus or CORE). Caregivers can also request respite hours.
- HCS does not have an eligibility/enrollment requirement but rather assesses needs and allocates services. This means it serves those who are aging or those with other disabilities not covered by DDA.
- Request sliding scale respite for unpaid caregivers of adults at <http://www.kccaregiver.org/>

Housing Options

It is important to note that housing options in King County are limited for people with developmental disabilities, and can often take a long time to secure. Consider and plan for housing arrangements that will work for your family now and in the future.

- There are several different types of housing models.

- Which independent living skills should be focused on for future housing possibilities?
- There are Section 8 vouchers and subsidized units available, through the King County Housing Authority for clients of DDA. You can ask your DDA Case Manager or contact Katherine Festa at 206-263-9053.
- If not in DDA and wanting to live in subsidized housing you will need to go through housing authorities and get on their waitlists; these are usually several years long.
- If not in DDA and wanting to live with support in an adult family home apply through Home and Community Services (HCS) or online at www.washingtonconnection.org

Self-Advocacy, Social, Recreational & Educational

Becoming an adult brings with it opportunities to advocate for yourself. Here are a couple of opportunities:

- The Arc of King County: Advocacy Program for People with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities
 - Come to Olympia with The Arc during the legislative session to talk with your representative
- Self-Advocates in Leadership (SAIL): monthly meetings
- People First of Washington regional meetings

The transition away from school also means a transition away from a structured week and time with friends. Try to establish regular activities that will continue beyond school to allow some continuity of routine and social connections. It is always best to establish these activities before graduation! Explore The Arc of King County resource guide for places who facilitate activities or consider hobbies and interests (e.g. Going for a walk, go bowling, rent a movie, etc.).

There are a number of resources supporting adults with I/DD to learn beyond school. Some provide support for college, and others build on life skill or skills needed for employment. Find options on The Arc of King County Resource Guide under “Special Education” then subcategory “Education for Adults with Intellectual Disabilities”.

Transportation

King County Metro has a number of options to make transport more accessible for people with disabilities including reduced fares, shared rides through Access, reduced taxi rides, and training to learn how to use the bus.

Legal Considerations

Supported Decision Making, Power of Attorney, and Guardianship

What & Why: When a person turns 18 they are considered able to make their own decisions regardless of disability. For some adults with disabilities, additional support is necessary to protect their financial and personal wellbeing. Supported Decision Making and Power of Attorney are two popular ways to support people with disabilities in decision making without restricting their civil rights. Sometimes, guardianship is necessary when all other options have been considered. Guardianship must be set up through the county court where the person with a disability lives. Some people establish guardianship themselves, others use an attorney. Contact The Arc of King County to learn more.

Developed by The Arc of King County Information and Referral Team. Updated 11/20/2019

Special Needs Trusts

What & Why: A special needs trust allows someone to keep assets or financial resources without jeopardizing benefits which have resource limits such as Medicaid and SSI. Many people ensure that their will so that any inheritance goes into a special needs trust and doesn't impact their loved ones benefits.

How: For folks enrolled in DDA The Developmental Disabilities Endowment Trust Fund (www.ddeft.org) is a lower cost option, or folks can also go through a private attorney. Contact The Arc of King County for more information.

Advocacy & Community

Make connections that might help your family during this transition. These may help you learn about resources and navigate the changes. Here are some programs within The Arc of King County. Other groups and organizations can be found on The Arc of King County resource guide.

- King County Parent & Family Coalition (KCPFC): monthly meetings and emails focusing on legislative topics
- Parent to Parent (P2P): regular events and Yahoo email group "Into Adulthood"
- Multicultural Information and Family Support: Our staff provide support in both English and Spanish as well as culturally specific support to African American and Latino families.

VIRTUAL SUPPORT & INFORMATION GROUPS

Connect with other families like yours at your own time and pace! Share resources, ask questions, celebrate successes, and vent frustrations. All groups are closed and private, moderated by The Arc, and created exclusively for parents and loved ones of people with developmental disabilities in King County. What to do and when to do it — for students with a developmental disability

AGE

If my child has a developmental disability, here are some timelines of activities to do.

15-16	Apply for a Washington State I.D. card. WHY: It will be needed to apply for adult services.	 • Get an I.D. card at your local Department of Licensing
16	Apply to become a client of the Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA). WHY: You may want these service options when your son/daughter turns 21. Long term job coaching support is based on availability of funding.	 • www.dshs.wa.gov/ddd/
17-17½	Consider if guardianship is necessary and determine the type of guardianship. WHY: Age 18 is the age of majority (becoming a legal adult) and your son/daughter may need support making legal, medical and vocational decisions.	Guardianship
17-19	Apply for HUD Housing. WHY: The wait list for housing can be very long, so it is important to apply early.
18	If your child does not receive Social Security Benefits – apply now! WHY: He or she is now an adult and parents' income is not counted. He/she may be eligible for cash and medical benefits. There are many provisions available, called WORK INCENTIVES, that allow people with disabilities to keep benefits, including Medicare/Medicaid, while working. He or she needs to pay rent to the family in order to maximize all benefits.
18	Ask your DDA case manager about Medicaid Personal Care funding if your son or daughter is a client of DDA and the family provides personal care (help with bathing, grooming, dressing, laundry, etc.).	Medicaid Personal Care Funding
Young Men 18	Register for Selective Services. WHY: It's the law. Also, if planning to apply for financial aid to attend college, applying for Selective Service is required.	• Apply on line at: http://www.sss.gov • Get a form from your local post office. • Return the form that comes in the mail.
Senior Year	Fill out the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). WHY: If seeking aid to attend college, this form must be filled out by March 1 of Senior year for best consideration.	 • www.fafsa.ed.gov
19-21 or last year of school	Apply for services with the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR). WHY: This agency helps people with disabilities become employed and understands how working will affect people's benefits.	 • www.dshs.wa.gov/dvr/
Anytime	Apply for job search assistance with WorkSource Youth Services. WHY: This is the local program that can help self-directed job seekers find part time and/or summer employment to help develop work skills.	 • www.go2worksource.com
Anytime	Call for local transit system bus Travel Training and Paratransit services. WHY: This is free training for people who want to learn to be independent on the bus and flexible alternative public transportation for people with disabilities and the elderly.	Travel Training & Paratransit Services
Anytime	Apply for services at a local center for independent living (CIL). The State Independent Living Council [SILC] can help you find local resources. WHY: These organizations provide support for independent living skills development, advocacy, and benefits planning.	 • www.wasilc.org

Planning for Life After School

Creating a successful transition to adulthood requires support from a lot of different sources. This Transition Toolkit provides a timeline and checklist to help you make the most of your high school years. The following STAR FORM offers an example of ways to identify helpful people and resources to help reach your goals. Download your own STAR FORM at informingfamilies.org/star.

Jon's Goal: Successful Transition

Informing Families Today and Tomorrow

Informing Families is a collaboration between the Washington State Developmental Disabilities Council (DDC), Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA) and other partners throughout the state. High School Transition Toolkit

TRANSITION PLANNING 101

Transition is a term educators use to talk about preparing for life after high school, and it spans several years.

Officially, transition planning can begin at age 14, but families and schools should be planning and planting the seed/thoughts/expectations even earlier than that.

By the time your child turns 16, his/her Individualized Education Program (IEP) is focused on transition services.

The transition plan charts a course for graduation and life after high school, with measurable goals related to post-secondary education, employment, independent living, housing, and community participation.

The transition plan is created by the IEP team, with your son/daughter's participation. It identifies the skills, services and supports necessary to reach the student's goals.

It's a lot to consider, but you are not alone. Organizations such as PAVE (wapave.org) and Parent to Parent (arwca.org/getsupport) can help guide your way.

For a list of other high school transition resources and publications, visit: informingfamilies.org.

GOAL SETTING

A transition plan drives the IEP and maps a successful transition to life as an adult. Ask yourself what instruction, support & services are needed to achieve goals related to:

- ▶ Employment and/or Post Secondary Education
- ▶ Independent Living (e.g., money management, decision-making, shopping, cooking, using the bus)
- ▶ Housing/In-Home Support
- ▶ Social/Recreational
- ▶ Financial/Legal
- ▶ Health & Safety

HIGH SCHOOL TRANSITION TIMELINE

Include the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) Transition Counselor as part of the IEP team at age 14.

Age 20-21

- Request long-term employment supports from DDA (if funding is available).
- Apply for short-term employment services from DVR (or, if available, your county DD program). Visit dshs.wa.gov/dvr to find your school's DVR Transition Counselor.

Age 18-19

- Enroll in High School Transition program until age 21, or continue on to postsecondary education.
- Assess transportation options.

Age 18

- Register to vote.
- Open checking account.
- Apply for SSI benefits.
- Enroll in Medicaid.
- Consider decision-making alternatives to guardianship.

Age 16

- Begin transition services.
- Include self-advocacy & self-determination goals in the IEP.
- Determine graduation date.
- Learn what the school's 18-21 transition program(s) offer.

Age 15-16

- Apply for a Washington State ID Card.

Age 14

- Transition planning.
- Include the student in planning.

IMPORTANT: Apply for DDA Eligibility by Age 18

Applications for eligibility from the Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA) can be made at any age, but it's a really good idea to apply by age 18. Programs such as Individual & Family Services (IFS) and Community First Choice (CFC) offer a variety of home and community services to increase health, safety, and independence. Learn more: informingfamilies.org/dda-services.

High School Transition Toolkit

TRANSITION CHECKLIST

Consider the following checklist of skills, activities, and services when creating your child's high school transition plan for his/her IEP.

Independent Living

Identify skills and abilities that will help your son or daughter be as independent as possible:

- ☐ Money management/budgeting
- ☐ Opening a line of credit (to establish credit history)
- ☐ Bill paying
- ☐ Decision-making
- ☐ Self-advocacy
- ☐ Sex education
- ☐ Registering to vote
- ☐ Communication
- ☐ Transportation training
- ☐ Daily living skills (e.g., cooking, shopping)

Financial and Legal

- ☐ Apply for Supplemental Security Income (SSI).
- ☐ Arrange for a Representative Payee for SSI benefits (if money management is a concern).
- ☐ Seek benefits planning (including Social Security Work Incentives, such as PASS and IRWE).
- ☐ Establish a special needs trust.
- ☐ Seek guardianship (if less restrictive decision-making alternatives are not appropriate).

Social/Recreational

- ☐ Build friendships outside the family.
- ☐ Create a circle of support (family, friends, neighbors).
- ☐ Identify and connect with groups that share similar interests, such as:
 - Athletic
 - Faith-Based
 - Creative
 - Technological
 - Humanitarian
 - Environmental
 - Civic/Leadership

Employment/Post-Secondary Education

- ☐ Identify potential jobs/careers.
- ☐ Identify personal contacts useful in finding jobs.
- ☐ Research college programs.
- ☐ Gain work experience.
- ☐ Practice job skills.
- ☐ Obtain Assistive Technology and Training.
- ☐ Apply for employment services from DVR (last year of school) and DDA (age 21).

Adult employment services are provided through the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) and the Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA). Learn more: informingfamilies.org/employment.

Health & Safety

Identify needed skills and/or resources to be healthy and safe:

- ☐ Emergency recognition and response
- ☐ Personal care/hygiene
- ☐ Counseling
- ☐ Healthy relationships
- ☐ Physical/Occupational therapy
- ☐ Adult medical care provider

TIP for IEPs

Talk to the IEP Team about ways to include supports and instruction needed to reach goals that meet the student's needs.

Housing and In-Home Supports

- ☐ Apply for DDA services/supports (e.g., Personal Care, Supported Living, Companion Home, Adult Family Home).
- ☐ Apply for HUD federal housing assistance. (Contact your local Housing Authority to find out how long the waiting list is.)
- ☐ Research home ownership programs for adults with I/DD: washingtonaccessfund.org/home-ownership-resources/

GAINING JOB SKILLS in HIGH SCHOOL

SKILLS CENTERS prepare high school juniors and seniors for vocational careers in a wide variety of fields, with hands-on training that's great for students who thrive in a non-traditional learning environment. They're an extension of the student's day (about two and a half hours) and are offered to any local area high school student within a Skills Center's region.

As part of the general education curriculum, they're a great way for students with disabilities to tap into interests and abilities that lead to employment.

Although Skill Centers are staffed by the host school district, it's up to the home high school to provide the necessary supports and accommodations (included in the IEP).

SKILLS CENTER TRAINING AND THE IEP

If your son or daughter is about to become a junior or senior, contact your regional Skills Center and ask to schedule a visit. If you feel your son/daughter would benefit from attending, invite a representative from the Skills Center to be part of the IEP team. The IEP team considers:

- ▶ Is it a good fit?
- ▶ Will the student be successful?
- ▶ Will they find a career as a result of participating?
- ▶ What kinds of support are needed?

If the team agrees that this is a good placement, and the home high school agrees to send the necessary supports/accommodations, then Skills Center training is included in the IEP. As long as s/he remains enrolled in high school, the student can continue to participate in the Skills Center until age 21.

There are currently 18 Skills Centers throughout the state. For a list of locations, visit: washingtonskillscenters.org.

HIGH SCHOOL TRANSITION PROGRAMS (AGES 18-21)

When your son/daughter turns 18, they have the option to graduate with their peers (walk the stage) and continue on to a transition program until age 21.

Since DDA employment services do not start until age 21, participating in a transition program makes a lot of sense. Remaining in school until age 21 offers the benefit of a guided transition to adult life, a bridge to adult services, and the development of independent living skills.

Transition programs vary by location. For example, some county DD programs partner with the school district, DVR, and others with the goal of helping students to leave school with a job and make a seamless transition into adult life. Not all counties have funding to provide this type of wraparound service (beyond what DVR offers in schools), so it's important to ask your school what kinds of activities and support its transition program offers. Some schools may even have more than one program to consider.

In addition, your DDA case manager, school DVR counselor and county DD program can provide information on transition and employment services available in your area.

POST-SECONDARY EDUCATION and VOCATIONAL opportunities exist for all adults, regardless of age or ability. Most community colleges offer courses for credit or audit that enhance employability and life skills. Contact the disability services office at the college you are interested in attending to find out about accommodations and the documentation needed to be eligible for their services. Special Education Due Process Hearings

<http://www.k12.wa.us/SpecialEd/DisputeResolution/DueProcess.aspx>

A due process hearing is a formal, legal proceeding conducted by an administrative law judge (ALJ). A written request for a due process hearing is made by a parent or district relating to issues about the identification, evaluation, educational placement, or provision of Free Appropriate Public Education to a student. Requests must be made within—and allege violations that occurred not more than—two years before the date you knew or should have known about the allegation.

OSPI maintains a list of free and low cost legal assistance for Special Education Due Process Hearings. See link on this page for current list: <http://www.k12.wa.us/SpecialEd/DisputeResolution/default.aspx>

Office of Civil Rights Complaint (OCR)

<http://www2.ed.gov/about/offices/list/ocr/docs/howto.html>

OCR enforces five federal civil rights laws that prohibit discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability and age in programs or activities that receive federal financial assistance from the Department of Education (ED).

Anyone who believes that an education institution that receives federal financial assistance has discriminated against someone on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, disability or age, or who believes that a public elementary or secondary school, or state or local education agency has violated the Boy Scouts of America Equal Access Act, may file a complaint. The person or organization filing the complaint need not be a victim of the alleged discrimination but may complain on behalf of another person or group.

A complaint must be filed within 180 calendar days of the date of the alleged discrimination, unless the time for filing is extended by OCR for good cause shown under certain circumstances. You can initiate a complaint by a phone call.

Home School Resources

Any student, regardless of disability, has an option to homeschool. Some school districts have home school support programs, but not all. Contact your school district to learn about the rules and regulations for homeschooling, as well as support programs they may offer.

Students with an IEP can access certain IEP services through the school, even when they choose to home school. For example, if the student is eligible for Occupational Therapy through their IEP, they can continue to get that therapy from school while homeschooling. The family must negotiate this with their IEP team.

Things to Think About

People with disabilities want the same things in life as everyone else does: Relationships, meaningful things to do and resources to accomplish them. A job is a key component of a meaningful life. It provides meaningful things to do, relationships with co-workers and the community and resources to explore other interests. But a job often does not fill the entire day. By starting early to build relationships and find things to do, you will have a head start to having a full and meaningful life for your son or daughter.

One of the things that many parents worry about is the safety of their son or daughter in the community. Creating community for your son or daughter is actually protective. The more people who know them, and have a relationship with them, the safer they are because it puts more eyes on them. It is also important for parents to teach their son or daughter how to be safe in the community. Talk to your son or daughter about the different people they will encounter in the community and the kind of relationships you have with them: Their family, their close friends, acquaintances, helpers, authorities and strangers. Talk about how we greet the various people: Do we Hug, kiss, give a wave, a high five, or a handshake? Knowing the difference will help them be safe and navigate various social settings.

Sometimes our sons and daughters have difficulty understanding "who is their friend?" Talk with your son or daughter about what a friend is and how to identify them. Here are some things to help guide the conversation about who their real friends are: Do you know their first and LAST name? Do you know where they LIVE and who they live with? Do you know what they like to do for fun? Do you feel good and happy when you are with them? Do they ask you to do things with you or are you the only one asking? Do they want things from you? Can you share your thoughts with them and they won't tell? Do they like you as much as you like them?

Things To Do

- Find places where your son or daughter can be a "regular" in the community.
- Volunteer as a family.
- Take the bus as a family.
- Explore family recreational opportunities.
- Try new things together.
- Go to local community events.
- Join a service organization
- Make a regular date with friends.
- Explore what is in your community.
- Encourage your child's interests
- Begin to build routine into your child's schedule that can continue as they enter adulthood.

The People in My Life

Things to Think About

When you go out into the world you will find that you are not alone. You will encounter many people in your life, people that you will have a relationship with. However, your relationships with people will be different with every person and it is important to understand what type of relationships you have with them. There are 6 types of relationships: Family, Friends, Helpers, Acquaintances, Authorities and Strangers. Let's look at these different types of relationships.

Family

Families are the people you are with most of the time. You share living space with them and know each other very well. Most of time they are people who are related to you but, your close friends can become your family.

Friends

A friend is someone you know well. You know each other's likes and dislikes. You both want to spend time with each other and have fun doing so. You trust each other and can share things about yourself knowing they will not share it with others. They want to spend time with you and not just your stuff.

Helpers

A helper is someone who is there to help support you. You know their name and have shared things about yourself and you know some things about them. Sometimes your relationship can become a friendship but, the main purpose is to help you reach your goal. A teacher, therapist, coach and coworkers are examples of helpers.

Acquaintances

An Acquaintances is somebody you have met and know their name. You might know a few things about them but you only have had casual conversations with them.

Authorities

An authority is someone that you need to listen to. They can be someone you never met but they are there to protect you, tell you where you need to go or what to do. A Fireman, the President, teachers, and your boss are some examples of an authority.

Strangers

A stranger is someone you might have seen but never have met. You do not know their names or anything about them.

Things To Do

Talk to your family about the people in your life. Who are your family members, friends, acquaintances and authorities?

Knowing the People in Your Community

Talk to your family about what your relationship is with these people below. Are they your family, friend, helper, acquaintance, authority or a strangers? How would you greet each of these people: with a hug, kiss, wave, handshake, or high-five?

Disability Employment Services & Supports

Ages
14-21

High School Transition Plan

High school transition planning officially begins at age 16, but you can start as early as age 14. Be sure to include employment-related goals in the student's IEP, such as: identifying career interests and abilities; learning self-advocacy and social skills; riding the bus; improving communication; and using technology.

Pre-employment services, offered by the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR), provide job exploration and work readiness for competitive, integrated employment after high school for students with IEPs and 504 plans ages 16-21 (or as young as 14 if included in the IEP). Talk to your IEP team or contact DVR to learn more: dshs.wa.gov/dvr.

Ages

DVR Transition Liaison

Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) Transition Liaisons partner with school districts to help students enrolled in High School Transition programs prepare for and find employment. Be sure to include the school's DVR Transition Liaison/Counselor as part of the student's IEP team. For more information, visit: dshs.wa.gov/dvr and click on the link for School Transition, or call 1-800-637-5627.

Ages

Adult Services

DVR provides short-term employment services to assess, train and find job placements for eligible adults with disabilities. Contact DVR for an application and a determination of eligibility. For a listing of local DVR offices, visit: dshs.wa.gov/dvr.

In addition to DVR, most individuals with I/DD will need DDA long term supported employment services, which are provided to DDA eligible individuals age 21 and older who are enrolled in the Basic Plus, Core, or Community Protection waivers. Enrollment is limited to available funding. To learn more and/or request services, visit: dshs.wa.gov/dda.

Ages 18-21: High School Transition Programs

When a student turns 18, they have the option to graduate OR walk the stage with their peers and continue on to a transition program until age 21.

Remaining in school until age 21 offers the benefit of a guided transition to adult life, a bridge to adult services, and the development of independent living skills.

Transition programs vary by location. For example, through School to Work, some school districts partner with county DD programs, DVR and others, with the goal of helping students to leave school with a job and make a seamless transition into adult life.

Not all counties have funding to provide this type of wraparound service (beyond what DVR offers in schools), so it's important to ask your school what kinds of activities and support its transition program offers. Some schools may even have more than one program to consider.

The Long and Short of Employment Services

DVR

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation

(DVR) helps adults with disabilities find and secure stable employment. DVR services are not long-term. Their purpose is to provide the necessary tools and assistance for initial job placement and (if needed) to aid transition to long-term supports outside DVR (such as DDA).

Services may include: counseling & guidance; trial work experience; community-based assessment; benefits planning; assistive technology; job-related services such as completing applications, developing a resume, practicing interview skills, conducting a job search, gaining job skills; and transition to DDA long-term supports.

The Role of DVR in High School Transition

DVR partners with school districts to help students receiving high school transition services prepare for and find employment. This typically happens during the final year of school (age 20-21).

For more information, or to find the DVR Transition Liaison in your school, visit: dshs.wa.gov/dvr and click on the quick link for School Transition; or call: 1-800-637-5627.

DDA

The Developmental Disabilities Administration

(DDA) provides long-term employment services to eligible individuals age 21 and over.

Services may include:

- Individual Supported Employment
Individualized services necessary to help persons with I/DD obtain and continue integrated employment at or above the state's minimum wage in the general workforce. Includes intake, discovery, assessment, job preparation, job marketing, job supports, record keeping and support to maintain a job..
- Group Supported Employment
Supervised employment for groups of no more than 8 workers with disabilities in the same setting.

It's important to find out, prior to exiting the school system, how to apply for these services (and if funding will be available).

Although DDA does not provide employment services until age 21, other home & community-based services may be available. Visit dshs.wa.gov/ddd for a full list of services.

High school transition programs (for students age 18-21) vary from county to county. Some county DD programs partner with the school district, DVR, and others with the goal of helping students to leave school with a job and make a seamless transition into adult life. Some counties, however, do not have alternative sources of funding to provide this type of wraparound service (beyond what DVR offers). Ask your school district what kinds of activities and support its transition program offers. Contact Parent-to-Parent (arcwa.org/getsupport) or PAVE (wapave.org) for support to help get your child's transition needs met.

When your child turns 18, s/he has the option to:

- Graduate and continue in the school district's high school transition program until age 21. Remaining in a high school transition program until age 21 offers the benefit of a guided transition to adult life, a bridge to adult services, and the development of independent living skills.
- Graduate and exit the K-12 system. Often, individuals who leave high school at age 18 have been discouraged from staying due to level of disability and/or lack of support, but some choose to seek post-secondary or vocational training independently (or with help from family).

Whether your son or daughter chooses to stay in school or exit at age 18, post-secondary educational and vocational opportunities exist for all adults, regardless of age or ability.

Most community colleges offer courses for credit or audit that enhance employability and life skills. Some offer specifically designed programs for students with developmental disabilities. Other colleges find ways to help students with disabilities integrate into existing classes. Ask your high school transition teacher and/or Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) counselor to find out what your local college offers.

Think College!, an online resource for students with intellectual disabilities, lists college programs for students with ID. If you do not have a program in your area, Think College! provides tips for starting post-secondary education opportunities for students with disabilities.

Whether it's learning a trade, developing job skills, or pursuing personal interests, post-secondary education builds self-esteem, increases chances of employment and creates a more inclusive community.

Employment and Your Benefits FAQ

It is a common misconception that individuals with disabilities who receive SSI or SSDI cannot work because they may lose their benefits. Benefits are complicated, but with proper planning most people will be able to work and retain essential benefits. This is a brief overview. For more in-depth information, we recommend you connect with a benefits planner to help you understand the impact of working on your benefits.

Q. I receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI), if I work will I lose my SSI cash payment?

A. When you work and are on SSI, you may keep the first $85 (if you have no other unearned income) and then you will also keep ½ of the remainder of your income until you reach the "break-even point" and your payment is zero (for 2020, this earned income amount is $1,651 per month).

For Example

The person earns:

$500 a month
-$20 general exclusion
-$65 earned income exclusion
= $415 divided by half = $207.50
(countable income)

The full SSI payment for 2020 is $783 per month. You would then subtract $207.50 (countable income) = $575.50

This means the person would receive $500 in earnings and $575.50 in SSI payment for a total of $1,075.50 per month.

Q. Will I lose my Medicaid if I work?

A. Sometimes when you are earning more money the most important benefit to retain is the support services needed through Medicaid. These supports may include Personal Care Services or Job coaching. There are several ways to retain Medicaid while continuing to build your income through employment.

Resources: Most Medicaid programs require you to keep your assets under $2,000 for a single individual and $3,000 for a couple. There are ways to save above the $2,000/$3,000 limit by utilizing:

- ABLE account
- Developmental Disabilities Endowment Trust II account (DDETF), or having a private self-settled Special Needs trust
- Medicaid through the Apple Health for Workers with Disabilities program.

Income: There are also ways to make more money and retain your Medicaid benefits. These include:

- 1619(b)—an extended Medicaid program connected to SSI. Earned income can be up to $33,489 (2019 amount, 2020 limit not established) under the standard income limit, and individualized thresholds can be established for individuals with greater reliance/expenses for Medicaid
- The DDA Medicaid Waiver Special Income Level, which has a gross income limit of $2,349 (for 2020)
- Social Security Work Incentives, which can reduce countable income. These work incentives can include the Student Earned Income Exclusion, Plans for Achieving Self Support (PASS) and Impairment Related Work Expenses (IRWE).

- Apple Health for Workers with Disabilities program (HWD). In the Apple Health for Workers with Disabilities, individuals pay a premium, based on income to maintain their Medicaid services. There are no longer income or asset limits for this program.

Q. How much can I make if I receive SSDI (Social Security Disability Income).

A. The 2020 monthly earnings threshold for SSDI is $1,260 a month. SSDI is different from SSI - you either receive all of the payment or none of the payment. Your SSDI payment is related to your employment record, and/or it may be related to your retired or deceased parents Social Security, if they are taking benefits. There are ways to reduce the countable income through PASS and IRWE plans. By utilizing these work incentives you may be able to work more, depending upon your individual support needs.

Q. Can I receive both SSI and SSDI?

A. Yes, as long as your earnings do not exceed $1,260 you will keep all of your SSDI payment, although SSI will reduce your cash benefit by the amount of the SSDI check. You can stay Medicaid eligible by keeping your assets under the $2,000 limit, or by utilizing the work incentives and programs related to resources mentioned above.

Q. Do the income limits and benefit amounts ever change?

A. Yes, benefit amounts and earning limits often increase each year usually on January 1st. You will want to inquire to see what the current limit is before making benefits decisions.

Q. Where can I go to receive benefits planning?

A. Your employment vendor may have basic information about benefits. If you are a client of DVR (Department of Vocational Rehabilitation) or the DSB (Department of Services for the Blind) you can request a free benefits analysis. You can also request a free benefits analysis from PLAN to Work at 866-497-9443

Social Security Disability Insurance, Medicare, and Employment

Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI) is a benefit for individuals who have a medical condition that meets the definition of disability and has one or both of the following:

1. A qualifying work record.
2. Is eligible for Disabled Adult Child Benefits because their parent had a qualifying work record and is deceased, taking Social Security retirement or disability benefits and
The individual with a disability is over the age of 18
The disability occurred before age 22

What is a qualifying work record?

That means if you have worked long enough, paid into the system through FICA taxes and earned enough "credits" to qualify. The number of credits varies based on age, and whether you are seeking disability or retirement benefits. For an individual with a developmental disability under the age of 24 who is working, this could be as soon as they have 6 credits. For more information visit this website:

<https://www.ssa.gov/pubs/EN-05-10072.pdf>

Can I receive SSDI benefits from my own work record and my parents?

Yes, if you are receiving Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and working, you will begin to receive SSDI benefits when you have earned enough work credits. In addition, you may also begin receiving Childhood Disability Benefits (formerly Disabled Adult Child Benefits) when your parent dies, or is receiving disability or Social Security retirement benefits, if they had a qualifying work record. It is important that when your parents apply for their Social Security Administration benefits, they tell the SSA that they have a child with a disability.

SSDI, SSI, & Medicaid

What happens to my SSI payment when I receive SSDI?

Since SSDI is considered to be unearned income, and SSI is a needs-based benefit, your SSI payment will be reduced by the SSDI payment, after a $20 exclusion is applied. If your SSDI payment (after the $20 exclusion) is more than your full SSI payment, you will no longer be eligible to receive your SSI payment.

If my SSI payment is reduced to $0? Will I still be eligible for Medicaid?

There are a number of ways to remain financially eligible for Medicaid. It is important to respond to any requests for information regarding your Medicaid eligibility, as most Medicaid eligibility is determined at the State level, while Medicaid for someone who is on SSI is determined at the Federal level. Therefore, if your SSI payment is reduced to $0 because you begin receiving an SSDI payment, you will receive a letter from Social Security notifying you that you are no longer eligible. You should then receive a letter and forms from the State requesting information to determine Medicaid eligibility. Please note that for most Medicaid eligibility groups, the resource limit is $2,000, just as it is when you receive Medicaid because you are SSI eligible.

Why is it important to stay Medicaid eligible?

Although Medicaid provides many of the same healthcare services that Medicare does, Medicaid pays for almost all of your developmental disability Waiver services, including job coaching, respite, personal care and Residential Services. Medicaid will also pay for your Medicare premium if you are Medicaid eligible.

If I am receiving SSI and have enough work credits to receive SSDI, do I need to apply?

Usually Social Security will notify you when you have enough credits, but they are often backlogged. They usually catch this at an SSI review. If you think you qualify, you can call and inquire about applying. Once Social Security has determined you have enough credits and are qualified for SSDI, you will receive a back payment for any months that you were qualified and did not receive a payment. Those who are eligible to receive SSDI are mandated to be moved in whole or part from SSI to SSDI.

I received a back payment from SSDI, what do I need to do?

The back payment will count toward your $2,000 asset limit for Medicaid, but you have 9 months to spend the payment, before it is considered a resource. You may purchase items for your care or use, put it into a Special Needs Trust, the Washington State Endowment Trust Fund, or into a qualifying ABLE account.

Employment & SSDI

If I am working and my SSI payment is $0, do I have to report my earnings to Social Security?

Yes, in order to protect against overpayment of Social Security Benefits, it is important to report earnings. Reporting earnings is also important to remain Medicaid eligible. You are required to report a change in income within 30 days of the change. If you are on SSI and Medicaid, you will report the change to Social Security. If you are on Medicaid and not on SSI, you will report the change to the State.

What if I lose my job?

If you are still SSI eligible, (your SSDI payment is less than the full SSI amount $783 in 2020) you should contact Social Security office, and they can re-start or adjust your SSI payments again without having to re-apply.

If you are only receiving SSDI and need to continue to be Medicaid eligible, you are required to contact the Department of Social and Health Services, so they are aware of the change in income within 30 days of the change.

How do I report income changes when I am receiving Medicaid, but not on SSI?

- Online: Go to Washington Connection (<https://www.washingtonconnection.org/home/>) select "Report a Change" and follow the prompts.
- Phone: Call the DSHS Customer Service Center at 1-877-501-2233.
- Paper: Submit verification of the change to: DSHS-CSD, PO Box 11699, Tacoma, WA 98411-6699.

How much money can I earn if I have SSDI?

To retain your SSDI eligibility, you may earn up to $1,260 per month (2020) and keep all of your SSDI income. Unlike SSI, which reduces your earned income by .50 cents for each $1.00 earned, SSDI is an all or nothing benefit. However, there are a variety of work incentives which allow you to "test" work, and have a safety net for cash benefit eligibility, based on a number of factors. Understanding how earnings affects SSDI has a lot of complexities. It is important to seek benefits counseling to fully understand how work affects benefits.

Are there other ways to that I can earn more money and keep my SSDI or Medicaid benefits?

- Yes, there are Social Security Work Incentives including Impairment Related Work Expenses (IRWE) and other work incentives that may reduce your countable income and assist you in staying eligible for SSDI as well as Medicaid. A benefits counselor will be able to provide information about these options.
- There are additional income eligibility groups for accessing Medicaid and Medicaid Waivers:
 - o If you are working or have other incomes sources (like SSDI/SSDAC) there is a Special Income Limit for that allows you to have total monthly gross income of up to 3 times the amount of the annual SSI Federal Benefit Rate (2020 amount= $783 x 3=$2349) and retain your eligibility for Medicaid Waiver services. You still must keep your assets below $2000.
 - o You may be eligible for the Apple Healthcare for Workers with Disability Program. Apple Healthcare for workers with disabilities allows an individual with a disability who is working to "Buy in" to Medicaid. You pay a premium based on your income. Apple Healthcare for Workers with disabilities does NOT have an asset limit.

Benefits Planning

This is all very confusing and I am worried that I might lose my benefits. What can I do?

It is important to seek out help before your situation becomes too complex or if you are getting new benefits. Knowing what your options are is important. There are several places that you can receive benefits planning. If you are working your job vendor may have basic knowledge of benefits planning. If you are having difficulty accessing a resource that can provide the information you need, there are other planning resources:

- Plan to Work offers planning: call 866-497-9443.
- DVR offers benefits planning, request a plan from your DVR counselor.
- DDA offers benefits planning through Individual Technical Assistance for people who are on the waiver. Ask your case manager for a referral for Individual Technical Assistance.

Medicare

When do I become Medicare eligible after I begin receiving SSDI?

You become eligible for Medicare two years after you are eligible to receive your first cash payment for SSDI.

Can I be both Medicare and Medicaid eligible?

Yes, but there are income and resource thresholds to be aware of with Medicaid. Keep in mind that Medicaid pays for most all Developmental Disability Administration long-term care services like personal care, residential and employment supports, so it is important to stay Medicaid eligible.

What is the difference between Medicare and Medicaid?

Medicare is an insurance program that provides medical care for seniors and some individuals with disabilities. You pay into the program through your payroll taxes (FICA -Federal Insurance Contributions Act) and receive "credits" for each quarter you work. Medicare has four parts to it:

Part A: Hospital Insurance

Part B: Medical Insurance

Part C: Medicare Advantage Plans

Part D: Prescription Drug Coverage. Individuals pay co-payments.

Medicaid is an assistance program for individuals with low incomes. It is paid for by Federal and State taxes. For individuals with disabilities along with Medical coverage it can provide long-term care services like residential, employment and respite through a Home and Community Based Waiver.

Do I have to sign up for Medicare?

If you are on Medicaid, you are automatically signed up for Medicare Part A when you become eligible. In order to obtain Medicare Part B and Part D (the most typical coverage areas), you must opt in and pay a premium. If you decide not to select these options, and you don't have "creditable coverage", you may be charged a 10% penalty on the premiums for each year without coverage when you do choose to opt in.

What if I can't afford the premiums and other costs of Medicare?

If your income is low you should be eligible for "extra help" from the state. Extra help pays for Medicare premiums, deductibles, copays and the "Donut hole/coverage gap". The state offers several Part D prescription drug plans that do not have a premium. If you are on Medicaid, Medicaid will pay premiums and co-payments.

Do I have to pick a Medicare Part D (Prescription Drug Plan)?

Yes, if you are on Medicaid and do not pick a Prescription Drug Plan, the state will pick one for you. There are a limited number of "Extra Help" plans that offer low or no premiums.

Medicare Part D stand-alone policies

<https://www.insurance.wa.gov/sites/default/files/documents/2018-medicare-standalone-plans.pdf>

Who pays for my care when I have both Medicare and Medicaid?

Medicare will pay first, then Medicaid will pick up the co-pays, co-insurance, deductibles and other things that Medicare may not pay for.

Can I have private insurance and Medicare and Medicaid?

Yes, you can have all three forms of insurance. Private insurance pays first, then Medicare, and Medicaid is always the payer of last resort. The exception is if the private insurer is a company of less than 100 employees, then Medicare is first, then private, and Medicaid is last.

Sometimes the WA state Healthcare Authority (HCA) will pay the premium for private insurance. The state will look to see if it is advantageous for them to pay some or all of the private insurance premium as a method of cost savings for Medicaid. Inquire through the Premium Payment Program.

<https://www.hca.wa.gov/free-or-low-cost-health-care/program-administration/premium-payment-program>

Can I stay on my parent's private insurance plan after age 26?

Some employer-based health insurance plans allow you to stay on your parent's private insurance plan after age 26 if you have a disability. You will need to contact the health insurance company when you turn 25 to ask them what kind of documentation they need in order to keep you on private pay insurance when you turn 26. They will need either:

- A Benefits Verification Letter
- A Benefits Explanation Query (more detailed)

What about Medicare Advantage Plans (Medicare Part C)?

Medicare Advantage Plans are private managed care plans that have contracted with Medicare that you can choose instead of Parts A and B. (original Medicare). They sometimes offer other benefits that traditional Medicare does not (like dental and vision). Most plans also include Part D (prescription drugs). There are certain "Special Needs Plans" (SNP) that are for individuals who are dual enrolled in Medicare and Medicaid and do not have premiums.

You can purchase a Medicare Advantage program, but there are important things to consider:

- Are the providers you need on the plan?
- If you choose a plan other than a SNP, will the plan's in-network providers accept Medicaid?
- If you choose a plan other than an SNP will the plan's providers bill correctly and/or refer to Medicaid providers as needed?
- If you choose a plan other than a SNP will the providers' office know what Medicaid covers and what the plan covers?
- There will be monthly premiums to pay if you do not choose a "Special Needs Plan". Medicaid will not cover Medicaid Advantage premiums.

Medicare Advantage Plans in King County

https://www.insurance.wa.gov/sites/default/files/documents/ma-plans-king-county-2018_1.pdf

Do I have to have a Medicare Advantage Plan?

No. This is up to you. You will want to be sure that the providers you use take both Medicare and Medicaid.

What if I have private health insurance and Medicare and Medicaid? How does that work with Medicaid Advantage Plans?

If you have private insurance that is a Health Maintenance Organization (HMO) or a Preferred Provider Organization (PPO) and they take both traditional Medicare and Medicaid, you probably do not need a Medicaid Advantage plan.

What are Medigap Plans?

Medigap Plans are supplemental plans that you can purchase through private insurers in addition to traditional Medicare parts A and B. They pay for some of the things that Medicare does not like co-payments, coinsurance and deductibles. They do not usually include Part D (prescription drugs).

If I have both Medicare and Medicaid do I need a Medigap plan?

Medigap Plans are likely to be unnecessary if you are on a Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA) Medicaid Waiver. Medicaid will pay for the same things that a Medigap plan will like co-payments, co-insurance, deductibles and other services that Medicare does not cover. Medigap plans require monthly premiums which can be significant and Medicaid will not pay for these premiums.

COLLEGE CONSIDERATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

This document will introduce you to some of the basic information and considerations for students with disabilities when applying to and attending college, including legal protections and tips for success.

For questions about college or other disability related services contact The Arc of King County Information and Resource team at 206-829-7053 or ask@arcofkingcounty.org

What legal responsibilities do colleges have?

Under the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, colleges cannot discriminate against a student because of disability. This means colleges are required to ensure students with disabilities have an equal opportunity to access all education, programs, and other supports available to non-disabled students. Colleges must provide Reasonable Accommodations as needed to ensure students with disabilities have the supports needed to equally engage.

It is important to understand the types of support students with disabilities can and cannot receive in college, and how that differs from high school. Most importantly, students in college DO NOT have Individualized Education Plans (IEPs) like they may have had in high school. In college, students with disabilities CAN have 504 Plans that provide reasonable accommodations to ensure equal access to education.

What are Reasonable Accommodations?

Reasonable Accommodations are adjustments or supports with tasks, the environment, or the way things are usually done so that students with disabilities have equal opportunity to participate. Colleges are not required to adjust the essential program or course requirements to accommodate students. For example, they can provide an accommodation for longer time for tests but cannot change the test content or required scores for passing.

Examples of Reasonable Accommodations:

- ✓ Note-taker/scribe.
- ✓ Sign-Language Interpreter
- ✓ Extended time for testing
- ✓ Substituting foreign language classes with specific cultural or other courses.
- ✓ Reducing course load and extending time on degree requirements.
- ✓ Auxiliary aids and services (e-textbooks, software, etc.)
- ✓ Housing accommodations (adjusting rooms/furniture, accessible to buildings, etc.).

Examples of Accommodations Colleges are NOT Required to Provide:

- ✓ Personal devices (wheelchairs, hearing aid, glasses, etc.).
- ✓ Assistance for personal care needs.
- ✓ Modifying academic or program standards.
- ✓ Burdensome, administrative, or financial support.

What should I be thinking about in the college search and application process?

Remember, not all colleges are alike. As with any college student, finding the right “fit” is important to ensuring a successful college experience. Some colleges are more inclusive and supportive of students with disabilities than others, even though all colleges must abide by ADA and Section 504 laws. Some colleges have programs and services designed to support the unique learning and social needs of students with intellectual and developmental disabilities (I/DD), while others do not. While a college cannot deny you admission because of your disability, they can determine how much or how little support they will provide. For a summary of college programs designed to support students with I/DD in King County, see our online Resource Guide at www.arcofkingcounty.org. Below are some tips and considerations as you begin thinking about college.

Things to Consider when Deciding on a College:

- ✓ Is the college physically accessible to you?
- ✓ Will the school provide you appropriate accommodations/services that meet your needs?
- ✓ What type of college will best fit your needs (large, small, public, private, religious, etc.)?
- ✓ Would I benefit from starting at a local Community College then transferring to a 4-year program?
- ✓ Will you live at home, on campus, or somewhere else?
- ✓ How will tuition and other expenses be paid?
- ✓ How will you handle your transportation?
- ✓ How will you handle personal care assistance?

Tips when Applying for College:

- ✓ Know what your rights are as a student.
- ✓ Know what you want and need.
- ✓ Know where to get support.
- ✓ Visit the schools.
- ✓ Contact the School's Disability Resources/Service Office or visit their website to see what accommodations/services they have already.
- ✓ Make sure that you explore all the schools that are available to you.
- ✓ As soon as you are accepted, contact the Disability Resources/Services Office and submit an application. Expect to have an intake meeting to discuss your accommodation needs.
- ✓ Prepare your questions and concerns before your intake meeting with the Disability Resources/Services Office.
- ✓ Advocate for your needs.
- ✓ Consider participating in the DO-IT program? For more information, visit: <https://www.washington.edu/doi/>.
- ✓ Check out available scholarships for people with disabilities.

What can I do if I'm not getting the support or accommodations I need?

- ✓ Talk to your coordinator at the Disability Resources/Services and explain how your needs aren't met.
- ✓ Contact Complain/Resolution Resource Offices about your concerns.
- ✓ Contact your local Office of Civil Rights. King County Civil Rights – 206-263-2446
- ✓ Contact organizations like us.

UNDERSTANDING RESPITE CARE

What is RESPITE?

Respite is a break for parents and primary caregivers so they may get relief from the responsibilities of providing care to their loved one with a disability. During this period of respite, the person with a disability receives care from another trained provider while the primary caregiver can rest and rejuvenate. This intermittent relief is a necessary component of caregiving; it helps prevent burn out and maintain stability by allowing the caregiver and the care recipient to get a break from one another. Most importantly, respite helps people with disabilities avoid out-of-home placement when their caregivers become overwhelmed.

There are two primary forms of respite: community-based respite and out-of-home respite.

COMMUNITY-BASED Respite

Community-based Respite can be for a few hours at a time, it can be overnight, or it can take place over a period of several days. It can be provided by a 1:1 caregiver in your home and in your community. Respite can also take place in the community in group settings through organizations that provide services to people with disabilities, like after-school care, summer camps, adult day centers, specialized classes, or weekend activities. The terms "respite" and "personal care" are sometimes used interchangeably, however they are two distinctly different services. See The Arc of King County documents "Understanding Personal Care for Children" or "Personal Care for Adults" for information about "Personal Care."

ACCESSING FUNDING for Community-Based Respite

You can get respite services if you or your loved one is a client of the Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA). To access community based respite you must have a DDA Home and Community Based Services (HCBS) waiver.

Respite is offered through the Individual and Family Services waiver, the Basic Plus waiver, the Core waiver, and the CIIBS waiver. You can learn more about these different waivers from the Informing Families Building Trust website by clicking here. The Individual and Family Services waiver (commonly referred to as IFS) is the most accessible waiver to DDA clients—if you are in DDA and want to apply for IFS, call DDA's Service Request Line at 800-974-4428. This is a message line and you leave the full name and birth date of the DDA client, your contact information and what specific services you need. An example of a specific service could be "I need respite because I am the sole caregiver and need a break."

DDA will perform an assessment, regardless of the waiver or services they may offer you. The assessment determines the amount of funds based awarded to the person based on their need; these funds may be used for respite and/or other services. Those receiving the IFS waiver could receive $1200, $1800, $2400, or $3600; the funds are to be used over the course of a year. The other waivers offered by DDA may provide more funding for respite services.

If you want to use DDA respite funds, you must receive the actual respite service from an individual or an organization that is contracted with DDA, like the YMCA or your local Parks and Recreation department. Essentially, DDA pays for the service, but you decide where you want to spend the money. You can find some of these organizations on The Arc of King County's online resource guide, or you can contact your DDA Case Manager. It is important to note that respite is NOT childcare, rather it is an opportunity for the caregiver to rest and recharge.

FINDING A Community-Based RESPITE PROVIDER

Once you or your loved one has a DDA waiver that offers respite, you'll need to find a care provider. If you are looking for a 1:1 respite provider, you can ask your DDA Case Manager for a list of providers or you can refer to the Washington Home Care Referral Agency, who can give you a list of individual providers you may contact for availability. If you or your loved one have a friend, family member, or community member who is not the primary caregiver, and they would like to be paid to provide respite care, they may contract with DDA as an "Individual Provider". The respite provider must be authorized to work in the United States, pass a criminal background check, and they must not be a parent or spouse of the person with a disability. You can learn more about becoming an individual provider through the Informing Families Building Trust article by clicking here.

If you are looking for organizations that are contracted with DDA to offer respite in a group setting, you can ask your DDA Case Manager for a list of organizations or you can check out The Arc of King County's online resource guide.

OUT OF HOME Respite through DDA

Out of home respite is overnight respite that generally lasts a period of several days, and is intended for situations in which the caregiver will be unable to provide for the individual with a disability. This could be for many reasons, including a planned occurrence like a vacation or family event, or because they are currently overwhelmed with caregiving and need a longer relief period than their waiver offers.

Overnight Planned Respite is for DDA clients aged 18+. This is for folks who live with a caregiver (paid or unpaid) who requires temporary relief from their caregiving responsibilities due to a foreseen event. This is not a service for emergencies. This service is often used when caregivers have an event, vacation, planned surgery, or another occasion in which they cannot bring their loved one with a disability. This respite is offered in a community setting, and can be up to 14 days per year. In King County (and the rest of DDA Region 2), DDA offers a similar respite program called Dedicated Planned Respite, for folks under the age of 18. You do not need a DDA waiver for either of these services.

Enhanced Respite is for DDA clients aged 8-18. This is a service for youth who are at immediate risk of out of home placement due to challenging behaviors. This form of respite can last up to 30 days. Placement is based upon availability, so your loved one may be placed in a residential home in a community setting anywhere in Washington state, and this service has a wait time that can be several months long. This is for families and caregivers who are overwhelmed with their duties to the point that they may no longer be able to care for the person with a disability in their own home.

Unplanned \(Emergency\) Respite is for DDA clients aged 16+. This is intended for unexpected crises and urgent emergencies such as out-of-town funeral, caregiver medical emergency, etc. The individual with a disability can have a short term stay at a Residential Habilitative Center (often called an RHC) for up to 30 days. This is considered a short-term solution and can be used for unexpected caregiver crisis.

ACCESSING Out of Home RESPITE

You do not need a waiver to access overnight respite services, but you must still be in the DDA system. To access emergency respite, enhanced respite, or planned respite, contact your DDA Case Manager or DDA's Service Request line at: 800-974-4428, and request an application. This is a message line, where you will leave the DDA client's full name and birth date, and you will get a call back. This is not an immediate service and should not be treated as an emergency line.

ADDITIONAL NOTES on Unplanned & Emergency Respite

The Case Manager will conduct an in-home assessment to determine the likelihood for out-of-home placement; if the person with a disability is approved for unplanned or emergency respite services, the caregiver will work with DDA to create an individualized support plan (ISP) that will lay out the individual's care needs for on-going support.

When requesting overnight respite services, it is important to make it clear to DDA that your family is in need, and that without respite the person with a disability may no longer be able to continue living at home. DDA will want to see what strategies for coping and behavior management your family has used to show that you need this support. After you request this service DDA will conduct an in-home assessment to determine your family's needs regarding respite.

NON DDA Respite

If you or your loved one does not qualify for DDA services, there are other ways to access community-based respite:

Lifespan Respite provides "respite vouchers" to Washington families. To qualify for this program the caregiver must provide 40 hours of unpaid care each week, they may not be receiving respite services paid by another organization, and they must be otherwise unable to afford respite. Caregivers may use these vouchers at a pre-approved community-based setting.

Gift of Time, a program of Washington Autism Alliance and Advocacy has a biannual half-day respite program for kids aged 5-10 called Gift of Time. This program is free, and it requires an application that must be submitted several weeks before the event.

The Department of Health (DOH) offers respite funds for youth under 18 with special health care needs that are not eligible for DDA or other respite programs. To qualify for these respite funds, the family must be low-income as evidenced by being eligible for Medicaid. These DOH funds can cover respite at some day camps and overnight camps, but not with an individual provider or agency in the home. You can ask about these respite camps at your local health department.

Lastly, you can private pay for a respite provider, either to an individual or to a community agency. You can find a list of agencies that provide respite on The Arc of King County's Resource Guide, and you can find individuals to provide respite on caregiving website like www.care.com, the Home Care Referral Agency,

LEGAL DECISION-MAKING OPTIONS

FOR ADULTS WITH INTELLECTUAL AND DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES

This document is not legal advice. Please discuss your individual situation with an attorney. Contact The Arc of King County at 206.829.7053 or ask@arcofkingcounty.org with questions.

This document contains information about: Independent Decision Making, Supported Decision Making, Power of Attorney (POA), Durable Power of Attorney (DPOA), Limited Guardianship, Full Guardianship, and Guardianship for Native American adults. Always keep in mind the rights and self-determination of the person in which support options are being considered. There are several options for families to meet the needs of your loved one while supporting their rights, promoting self-determination, and ensuring their health and safety.

Guardianship should only be considered if less restrictive options do not meet the individual's needs. Many parents are told by schools or other parents that they will need to apply for guardianship for their loved one. This is not always the case. Sometimes, to assure the well-being of a loved one with disabilities, well intentioned parents and caregivers may feel the need to have control of their loved one's decision making, to nurture and to protect them. However, it is likely the more parents and caregivers manage the person with disability's decision making, the less responsibility the person with disability and others will take on, and the more reliant they will become on parents and caregivers.

Independent Decision Making: Independent Decision Making is the least restrictive option for legal decision making and naturally occurs at age 18 if another decision-making option has not been previously set up. Independent Decision Makers can still informally communicate with others to help make legal decisions. Instead of seeking to manage every interaction and decision, parents and caregivers can act as a supporter. Sometimes the shift from control to support can be as simple as some small adjustments to the language used: Instead of telling someone what to do, ask them what they want to do. Making this a gradual process will give you or your loved one a sense of security in the process of moving towards greater self-determination. The more parents, caregivers, and other support people can work together to adapt and understand each other the better independence skills will develop.

Supported Decision Making: Supported Decision Making is an option where the person with disability keeps their rights and their decision-making capacity. Ultimately, the individual with I/DD makes the final decisions about their own life. A person using supported decision-making appoints trusted advisors such as friends, family, or professionals, to serve as supporters.

Some states have formal legal recognition or specific laws for Supported Decision Making. While Supported Decision Making is not a legally recognized practice in Washington, an individual with I/DD can still utilize this practice, formally and informally. One may consider signing a formal document along with their identified support network stating that they all agree to undertake supported decision making. While this document may not always have legal authority, it can help doctors, bankers, lawyers, and other third parties feel more comfortable in accepting the decision of the person with disability without fearing lawsuits or malpractice claims.

The person with disability may change the supporters they use at any time they want, and in Washington this does not require a court process. Having more than one supporter provides a check against abuse, manipulation or exploitation by any one supporter. A monitor can also be appointed to oversee the supporters and is advisable when finances are included. The strengths and needs of the person are discussed by the person and their supporters. The person's abilities are based on what they can do both alone and with supports. The person can modify the supports they need and the supporters who provide these over the course of their life as they continue to learn and develop decision-making skills.

Power of Attorney (POA): A Power of Attorney (POA) is a legal document that gives an identified individual (the agent) the right to speak and/or make decisions on behalf of another individual (principal) if they are unable to do so for themselves (Click here for RCW 11.125). An individual who has an intellectual or developmental disability may adopt a POA so that the agent can make legal decisions on their behalf, however, should the person with disability disagree with the agent or make a different decision than the agent, the person with disability's decision overrides that of the agent. A POA can be either temporary, or be put in place for routine, ongoing support.

Power of Attorney can be used for financial decision making, medical decision making or both. Sometimes a person with a disability may struggle getting to the bank to open a new account or may need assistance communicating with physicians about decisions surrounding medications, therapies, and other medically necessary decisions. For both of these types of decisions, the agent can assist the person with disability by providing advice and clarification.

The only way to enact a POA is for the person with disability (principal) to grant the authority in writing for someone else (the agent) to act on their behalf. An agent can be granted broad authority through the POA that lasts a lifetime or be limited to a specific legal transaction, such as the sale of property. The rules and requirements for POAs vary from state to state, but it is typically an inexpensive and relatively simple process to complete.

The person with disability should, of course, choose an agent whom they can trust. An agent can be a family member, close friend or even an attorney. The person with disability decides what powers to give their agent through the POA and can revoke the POA at any time, unless they become deemed mentally incapacitated, in which case the POA ceases.

The POA is individualized to represent exactly what the person with disability needs assistance with. A POA requires the signature of the person with disability and can either be signed by a witness that is a non-interested party, or Notary signed. There are numerous POA templates that can be found online. For an example of a simple POA template:

<http://www.lawyercox.com/Sample%20Power%20of%20Attorney.htm>

Durable Power of Attorney (DPOA): The Durable Power of Attorney (DPOA) allows the agent to continue acting on behalf of the principal even if they become mentally incapacitated or too ill to make decisions on their own. The person with disability must, however, be ‘mentally competent’ when they first complete and sign the POA. A POA is a document through which the person with disability gives the agent legal authority to act for them; a DPOA includes language indicating that the power will continue even if the person with disability becomes incapacitated. If the document lacks this kind of language, the POA is not “durable,” and it terminates if the principal becomes incapacitated.

The language used in the DPOA document determines the extent of the agent’s powers. The document may give powers over financial affairs, healthcare, or both. Financial powers may be narrow or broad. A DPOA may be written to take effect immediately or to take effect only when the person becomes incapacitated. DPOAs should include language describing how incapacity will be determined.

DPOAs have many advantages. They are relatively simple and inexpensive to arrange compared to legal guardianships. The agent under the POA/DPOA is a fiduciary, meaning legally required to manage the person with disability’s assets in the interest of the principal. POAs/DPOAs can be revoked easily when the principal has the mental capacity to do so. There are numerous DPOA forms that can be found online. For a sample of a DPOA template:

https://www.washingtonlawhelp.org/files/C9D2EA3F-0350-D9AF-ACAE-BF37E9BC9FFA/attachments/392A5117-D581-FCE9-5EF2-E382E46B92AC/9608en_power-of-attorney-documents.pdf

Legal Guardianship Options: Guardianship is a legal proceeding that removes some, or all, of an individual’s decision-making rights. Guardianship can restrict an individual’s choices about where they live and work, their medical care decisions and whether they can marry. A guardian may be a parent, sibling, family member, friend, or professional agency. Since guardianship places major restrictions on fundamental rights, there is a rigorous process to evaluate whether a guardianship is needed. Guardianship may be granted for ‘person’ which covers the care, medical decisions, and living arrangements of the person with a disability OR guardianship of ‘estate’, which covers the person with disability’s financial and property affairs. Guardianship may be granted for both person and estate. Once a guardianship is created, it is very difficult to undo. It is important to understand that when a guardian is no longer able to serve, a professional guardian may be appointed to make every choice for the individual. These professional guardians are often making choices for dozens of people and will not personally know the person with disability. It is important to note that a guardian cannot do things like limit an individual’s access to another person or family member, nor can they inappropriately control interpersonal relationships. It is the guardian’s duty to make decisions in the best interest of the person with a disability and to always take into account their expressed interest.

Limited Guardianship: A Limited Guardianship grants the authority to make specific decisions identified in a court order and may be time-limited. Unlike Full Guardianship, Limited Guardianship is appointed by the court for individuals who need a guardian for specific decision making, but not all. Limited Guardianship must be renewed every three to five years to remain legal. The application for Limited Guardianship is rather quick, but the process to gain Limited Guardianship can be lengthy. Limited Guardianship is most often granted for a child or an adult with disability and is intended to protect liberty and autonomy of incapacitated persons and should be restricted to the minimum extent necessary. The incapacitated person should not be presumed to lose any rights except those listed in the court order. Limited Guardianship will grant only those powers necessitated by the person’s limitations.

Full Guardianship: Full Guardianship is created when a court authorizes someone to manage all of the personal rights and/or finances of an adult with disabilities. A Full Guardianship can be established for the person only, the estate only, or the person and estate of the individual. Guardianship of the person authorizes the guardian to arrange for needed personal services such as living arrangements, transportation, and medical services. Guardianship of the estate authorizes the guardian to make decisions related to finances. Full Guardianship authorizes the guardian to make decisions about the estate and person, but should be designed to help them keep as much independence and self-determination as possible. Granting guardianship is taken seriously by the courts because the person's rights are being taken away. The courts take into consideration whether the person is completely or partially incapacitated, if the person wants to have a guardian, and if it is the person's best interest to have a guardian.

Process for Guardianship: A Petition for Guardianship must be prepared and filed with the court of the county where the person resides¹. The Petition for Limited or Full Guardianship contains general information regarding the person, including age, address, physician, the nature of the incapacity, an estimate of the incapacitated individual's net worth, names of the proposed guardians, and the person's relatives. The court will appoint a guardian ad litem who acts as the person's advocate and represents the best interest of the person in which guardianship is being sought. The guardian ad litem is required to investigate and make a recommendations as to whether a guardianship is in the best interest of the person with disabilities and whether the proposed guardian is appropriate. A written report is made to the court by the guardian ad litem regarding the investigation. If the person with disabilities does not want a guardian, the court will appoint an attorney to represent them. If the person's assets are less than $3000 the county will pay for the attorney. After a guardianship is established, the guardians will be required to report back to the court annually, or every three years, if the person has few assets.

Guardianship for Native American Adults: For Native American adults, a guardianship proceeding are often brought into tribal court instead of state court. Many Indian Tribes have their own guardianship codes and court requirements. Before deciding whether to file a guardianship involving a Native American person in tribal court or state court, contact the tribe or a lawyer who regularly appears in the tribal court. Tribal courts may provide a less formal and more culturally sensitive forum for decisions regarding incapacitated tribal members. Tribal court may be the only available forum with a working relationship with the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) or tribal programs delivering BIA services.

When you, or your loved one with a disability, receives public benefits, Financial Planning is crucial! Currently, in Washington state, there are three major financial planning options for people with Intellectual and Developmental Disabilities (I/DD), that can help to protect public benefits like Social Security and Medicaid. The following document will first explain the purpose of establishing a will and second outline Special Needs Trusts (including the Developmental Disabilities Endowment Trust Fund) and ABLE accounts that can be established for your loved one with I/DD. It is important to remember that you can use one or all of these tools for you or your loved one's future.

Wills and Trusts Overview

A Will is the legal document that controls the distribution of your property at death and serves several important purposes. In Washington, if a parent dies without a Will and is survived only by his or her children, the parent's estate will be divided equally among those children. For individuals with disabilities, the direct inheritance of money may disqualify them from Supplemental Security Income (SSI), or needed Medicaid services, like housing, job coaches, and other benefits. While this problem can often be fixed after a parent dies, it is a cumbersome process and persons may be disqualified from benefits until the problem is remedied. Parents of children or adults with disabilities should therefore have a Will which directs all monies into a Special Needs Trust (SNT). A SNT can provide funds for items not covered by government benefits such as clothes, vacations, and gifts. Proper language in a SNT is critically important and an attorney familiar with SNTs should be consulted.

When setting up your Will with a SNT, you can select the Trustees to handle funds inherited by minor children and adults with disabilities. When a person with a disability inherits money, it may leave that individual vulnerable to exploitation; a trust with a chosen Trustee helps safeguard this vulnerability. The choice of a Trustee is very important because this is the person who manages the assets of the trust and decides when distributions should be made for the beneficiary with disabilities. Without a will, the parent will have had no say in who this Trustee is. Because the trust may continue for many years, it is good to select a Trustee who understands the Beneficiary's needs and who is roughly the same age as the Beneficiary. A professional Trustee may be chosen if the estate is large or if there are no family members that are able to serve as Trustee. The Developmental Disabilities Endowment Fund is a SNT operated by the State of Washington, and another option to consider, particularly for families who cannot think of someone who is trustworthy and knowledgeable enough to serve as Trustee. The Trustee must be very careful in making disbursements from the trust for the benefit of the beneficiary so as not to jeopardize eligibility for SSI and Medicaid. Increasingly, Social Security reviews the administration of SNTs to determine whether the beneficiary continues to qualify for SSI and Medicaid. If a Will with a SNT is created, it is important to change bank accounts, life insurance policies, and retirement benefit beneficiary designations to specify the trust as the Beneficiary for the portion of funds left to the person with disabilities.

While some SNTs are used for bequests in Wills, other SNTs can be set up immediately. Relatives and friends who may consider naming your child with a disability in their Wills should be advised that such a bequest must be done properly to avoid disqualification of benefits. Any such bequest should be made to a SNT, not the individual. If you know that someone is planning such a gift, you can set up a SNT right now, of which you could be the Trustee while you are alive. In addition, people with disabilities can save funds more than Medicaid asset limits by setting up a SNT to protect their wages or settlements. The trust can purchase a condo, a house, a specialized vehicle, or other things that a person wishes to save money to buy.

Overview originally drafted by Thompson & Howle, Attorneys at Law. Later revised by attorney Larry A Jones and most recently by attorney Karen M Thompson.

Frequently Asked Questions & Answers About Wills and SNTs

What is a Special Needs Trust?

A Special Needs Trust (SNT) provides a way for a person with a disability to receive financial support while remaining eligible for federal benefits such as Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Medicaid. Almost all Developmental Disability Administration (DDA) services are reliant on Medicaid funding. There are set resource limits that the SSI recipient's assets need to stay below to maintain their benefit status. If assets go above the resource limit the recipient will lose those government benefits. For a single adult, the resource limit is $2,000. For a married couple, it is $3,000. If the money is properly distributed directly to the SNT, then the Beneficiary will be able to access the assets owned by the trust, without losing their benefits.

Who can contribute to a trust?

Person with a disability:

Self-Settled Trust (aka First Party Trust): a person with a disability (Beneficiary) is contributing his or her own assets into the trust. There is a "Medicaid payback provision".

Family member or friend:

Third Party Trust: Anyone but the Beneficiary may contribute to and establish a trust for a person with a disability. The Beneficiary cannot be the one to administer the trust; it needs to be established by a third party. There is no "Medicaid payback provision".

What is Medicaid Payback Provision?

Any funds left in the self-settled trust after the Beneficiary passes away must be used to pay back the government for Medicaid benefits that the beneficiary had received. This is sometimes referred to as Medicaid Recovery.

What are the options to establish a SNT?

Developmental Disability Endowment Trust Fund (DDEFT): Is an option available to clients of the Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA), see further into this document for more details.

Private Special Needs Trusts: An individual may be the Beneficiary of more than one type of SNT. The self-settled aka first party SNT must be established and funded before the Beneficiary is age 65. A third party SNT has no age limit for funding. A private SNT can be established as a first party or third party SNT. The Trustee can be a family member or an organization of your choosing. Unless a family member is the Trustee there are Trustee fees associated with that service. An attorney will draft the private SNT. It is important to ensure your attorney is knowledgeable on the Medicaid and SSI rules regarding SNTs. The cost of an attorney varies, when speaking with attorneys ask about their flat fees to set up a SNT.

How do I include a SNT into my Will?

There are two ways to direct your inheritance to a SNT in your Will.

- 1) Provision to establish Third Party Special Needs Trust: You may leave direction in your Will to establish a third party SNT starting immediately upon your death. This can be edited or revoked prior to death and nobody else can contribute.
- 2) A stand-alone Third Party Special Needs Trust: when a Will directs inheritance to a third party SNT that is already established. If you believe that other family members or loved ones are planning to leave money inform them about the SNT.

Is it easier to leave my inheritance to someone else who understands my wishes and uses the money to meet the beneficiary's needs?

It may seem easier but ultimately it is a safer option to establish a SNT. For example, if the person you leave the money to is in an accident and is liable to pay for damages, is sued, files bankruptcy, or goes through a divorce the inheritance intended for the family member with a disability is not protected. There are no legal ramifications for siblings abiding by the wishes of the parent to distribute the funds for the person with a disability.

What if I am not a DDA client but want to participate in a pooled trust?

Contact The Arc of King County for updated SNT resources.

How should I ensure the trust funds are being used in the Beneficiary's best interest?

- Choose the Trustee wisely, they make decisions regarding the trust.
- Include a Trust Protector, or someone to oversee the interest of the Beneficiary, within the drafting of the trust. The Trust Protector can be a friend or family member that provides checks and balances of the trust. The Trustee needs approval from the Trust Protector to distribute funds.
- Include a Letter of Intent within the trust, a detailed description of the individual's needs and what the trust should be used for to assist the trustee.
- When a person agrees to become a Trustee, that person assumes a fiduciary duty, which means they are required to act in the best interest of the trust Beneficiary, not in the Trustee's own self-interest. A Trustee can be sued for violating their fiduciary duty. To report suspected financial exploitation, call 1-866-END-HARM

The Developmental Disabilities Endowment Trust Fund (DDEFT)

Establishing a private SNT is not the only financial planning option families have for their loved one's future. The Developmental Disabilities Endowment Trust Fund (DDEFT), formerly called the Developmental Disabilities Life Opportunities Trust (DDLOT) is a pooled trust that enables families or individuals to open first or third party SNTs with a minimal cost.

The DDEFT can be used to pay for things like education, transportation, vacations, personal care support, clothing, and more. The Trust cannot pay for expenses such as housing/shelter costs (like rent, heat, water, etc.) or food. These costs should be paid through Social Security such as SSI.

To be eligible for the DDEFT first or third party SNT the individual with a disability must:

- (1) be under the age of 65 at the time of enrollment
- (2) reside in Washington State
- (3) meet the state definition of developmental disability as determine by a representative of the Washington State Developmental Disabilities Administration (DDA). In this definition, the developmental disability must have occurred before the age of 18.

Depending on the type of trust set up, the savings in a DDEFT may be subject to Medicaid payback. There is no payback required in a Third-Party trust; however, Medicaid/Medical Assistance Recovery will occur in a self-settled First Party trust.

Contribution to the trust can occur until the individual turns 65 years old. An attorney is not required to set up this trust. The state offers some incentives in the form of state matching funds on fees. The DDEFT has selected The Arc of Washington State to act as the Trust Manager. For up to date information regarding the DDEFT refer to this website: www.ddeft.org or call 1-888-754-8798 EXT 1.

If you are unsure whether the DDEFT or a private trust is best for you or your loved one, consult with both DDEFT and an attorney familiar with the DDEFT and private SNTs to discuss your circumstances.

The Washington State ABLE Savings Plan (ABLE Accounts)

The Washington State ABLE Savings Plan (also known as ABLE Accounts) is form of 529 Account Tax Favored Qualified ABLE program in IRS code. In other words, it is a savings plan for people with disabilities who receive Supplemental Security Income (SSI) benefits or Social Security Disability Insurance (SSDI). An ABLE Account can be used by people with disabilities to save money for qualified expenses without having their savings impact their eligibility for Social Security and Medicaid. Qualified expenses include: basic living expenses, housing, transportation, education, assistive technology, employment training, personal support services, legal fees, health and wellness.

There are different reasons why a family or individual would open an ABLE savings account in addition to, or instead of, a Special Needs Trust. One of the major advantages offered through an ABLE account is the ability to use funds for housing related expenses, which you cannot do with a Special Needs Trust.

To be eligible for an ABLE Account the individual with a disability must:

- (1) receive SSI or SSDI OR submit certification that meets the criteria for a disability certification
- (2) have documentation that the disability or condition occurred / existed before the age of 26

Savings will be available on a prepaid debit card that can be used anywhere a MasterCard can be used (cannot be used at an ATM). There are three different investment options: conservative, moderate and aggressive. It is important to note that savings in an ABLE Account are subject to Medicaid payback, after the person with disability passes away. For up to date information on investments and costs, see the Washington State ABLE Savings Plan website: www.washingtonstateable.com or call 1-844-600-2253

If you have general questions about ABLE Accounts, please contact the Arc of King County. For questions specific to you and your loved one's finances, contact a financial planner or a private attorney.

Checklist for Transitioning to Adult Healthcare

Seattle Children's Center for Children with Special Needs | www.cshcn.org

Someday your child will need to transfer their care to doctors and other providers who see adults. Maybe this moment seems like a long way away, or feels like it's just around the corner. Wherever you are, planning ahead for this transition will help make this big change smoother and easier.

This checklist was made by parents of children who have gone through the process of transitioning to adult care. It was created to help you know what to expect and how to plan.

Use this checklist as a tool to talk with your child's providers. It also provides suggestions and resources to help you and your family.

Tips for using this checklist

- Take your time. Ideally, this process will occur over a period of years.
- Start these conversations with your child's providers starting around age 13. Include your child as much as possible and appropriate for them.
- Take this checklist with you to clinic visits and start asking questions that you need help with.

Planning the move to new providers and clinics

- ☐ What are all the clinics where my child receives care?
- ☐ For each of these specialties, where will they receive this care as an adult? (Where will my young adult be living? What will their insurance be? What is important to them in this choice?)
- ☐ What medical records will need to be transferred, and how is this done?
- ☐ Is there information that may not be part of the medical record, but is important for the new provider to know? (i.e., my child needs sedation for blood draws or a sign language interpreter).
- ☐ When and how will this information be communicated to the new provider? Would you like there to be direct communication in the handoff between your child's pediatric and adult provider?

Tip: Visit www.gottransition.org for resources to help you and your doctors plan this transfer of care. A care plan, transfer letter, medical summary and emergency care plan forms are listed in resources below.

Preparing to manage adult care

- ☐ Who will be my young adult's primary care provider (PCP)? What role are they prepared to play in coordinating and managing their care? How important is it that they understand my young adult's conditions and diagnoses?
(Even if your child does not currently have a primary care doctor, in the adult care system the PCP often plays a key coordinating role. If your child's PCP is a pediatrician, they will need to find an adult provider for primary care.)
- ☐ At age 18, will my young adult be managing their own care, or do they have developmental, mental or cognitive disabilities that mean they will need a legal guardian or other form of support?
- ☐ How do I transfer or manage prescriptions if my young adult can't?
- ☐ How will our current provider help my child develop self-management skills in managing their medical care?
- ☐ What advocacy might my young adult need for their healthcare (for example, needs medication or sedation for procedures such as blood draws)? Will their PCP help advocate for them?
- ☐ If my young adult is not independent, who is involved in their care (parent or guardian, group home or agency, etc.)? Have their respective roles and responsibilities been clearly defined?

Planning for emergencies

- ☐ Are there special considerations if my young adult needs emergency care?
- ☐ What information will care teams need to best treat and support my young adult in an emergency? How will this information be conveyed (medical bracelet, wallet card, smartphone, etc.)?
- ☐ Is it best they be taken to a specific place? What records should they have in advance? Will they take records in advance? How do I arrange this?

Understand health care privacy laws

Beginning at age 13, youth gain rights with respect to consent and confidentiality for certain kinds of care. Talk to your teen's care team to learn more about what this means for you and your teen.

Resources

Tools to share with your current providers:

- A plan can be developed with you, your child and their current provider to set priorities that integrate their health and personal goals. Examples include the "Transition Plan for Teens" from cshcn.org/teens or "Plan of Care" from gottransition.org

- The “Transfer of Care” letter, “Medical Summary” and “Emergency Care Plan” forms from gottransition.org can be filled out by your pediatric providers and shared with future medical and other care providers.

Assessing you and your child’s readiness for transition:

- Health Management Skills Assessment for Youth- Center for Children with Special Needs at cschn.org
- Transition Readiness Assessment for youth at gottransition.org
- Readiness Assessment for parents and caregivers at gottransition.org

Medication management

MyMedSchedule.com allows users to create their own printable medication chart with pictures of their pills and set up text or email refill reminders. This can be used with an adolescent learning to manage their medications.

For youth with intellectual and developmental disabilities

Which Housing Model is Right for You?

By Robin Tatsuda, The Arc of King County – Updated 11/6/2018

	Adult Family Homes	Shared Living	Supported Living
Eligibility Requirements	Eligible for Personal Care AKA Community First Choice Does NOT require DDA	None	DDA Core Waiver REQUIRED
Roommates	2-6 people	Yes, the number is determined by the families	Depends on the Provider agency
Extent of Care Services	1 live-in, licensed provider implements care plan based on annual CARE Assessment. Care plan identifies “Daily Rate”.	Residents each use their Personal Care hours and share a caregiver.	State-paid care services based on annual CARE Assessment that includes personal care, access to medical care, and support in community activities. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Services can range from 24/7 to just a few hours a week. Provider agency hires, trains, and oversees care providers (Direct Support Professionals).
Bricks & Mortar	Included in model	Families must locate the home themselves	Depends on the Provider Agency <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some agencies have homes with up to 4 residents Some agencies support clients in their own home/apartment
Family vs. State Oversight	Heavily regulated by state; family involvement encouraged but not required	Limited state oversight, primary oversight comes from family	Heavily regulated by state; family involvement encouraged but not required
Behavior Supports	Limited – most AFHs will not accept residents with challenging behavior	Depends on the agreement between families and caregiver	Yes, included in support plan and paid by state. However, if a client’s behavior puts agency staff at risk or exceeds their expertise, they may choose to discharge the client.

	Adult Family Homes	Shared Living	Supported Living
Involuntary Discharge	30-day notice if the AFH is going to voluntarily close or they are discharging a resident. Client can be involuntarily discharged if it is needed for their own welfare, the welfare of other residents, or house rules are consistently broken.	Depends on the agreement between families and caregiver	Services can be discontinued with as little as 10 days' notice Allowable Reasons: refusal of services, support needs exceed provider expertise, danger to staff (either due to client behavior or behavior of people they associate with), guardian asks for services beyond provider expertise or becomes a barrier to providing services, client is homeless.
Financial Considerations	Resident pays room and board based on income, often leaving very little for other expenses. Family cannot supplement the "Daily Rate"	Resident often obtain a Section 8 Voucher through King County HASP to subsidize rent. Family can negotiate plan to cover other costs such as food, transportation, recreation, etc.	Client pays for rent, food, and other expenses not related to care. Clients often obtain a Section 8 Voucher through King County HASP to subsidize rent. Family cannot supplement payment, unless the service is not paid by state.
Other Considerations	~430 AFHs in King County accept DD residents, but <50 specialize in DD. The others focus on aging adults. Turnover is low and spots are hard to find. It is a very long process to become a licensed provider, which means change over between providers can become complicated.	Requires extensive family oversight including very close collaboration between families. Aging parents will want to have a plan for who will provide oversight when they are no longer able to do it	Most support the state offers Many people utilizing this model have little to no family involvement
