What is ePALS?

The ePALS project at Oregon Research Institute is offering eligible pregnant women and mothers of infants 0-18 months old with learning difficulties the following, for four months:

- Important information to help their babies learn and grow
- A tablet computer with Internet service
- Internet-based parenting resources
- Moms can receive up to $200 for completing the required project activities

For more information, please call 855-434-1541
or email ePALS@ori.org

This research project is funded by the Institute of Education Science. Participants can withdraw from the project at any time. All information will remain confidential (within mandated abuse reporting requirements).
