The Cleveland Clinic is looking for parents of children with autism spectrum disorder (ASD) to participate in an assessment to learn more about sleep.

You may qualify as a participant if:
You have a child with ASD between the ages of 3-12 and has not started a new medication in the past month.

Assessments can be done online or in person and take 3 to 4 hours over two sessions. This project is funded by the National Institute of Health.

Each participant will receive a $100 payment after completing the visit.
